

REPORT ON SINKING OF S-5 COMPLETED

Findings in Hands of Navy Department, but Are Withheld for the Present

HALLIGAN TELLS OF RESCUE

The report of the board that inquired into the cause of the sinking of the submarine S-5 off the Delaware Capes is now in the hands of the Navy Department at Washington. The findings will not be known until given out there.

The rescue of the officers and crew of the S-5 was due to the arrival of the merchant ship Alantus and the General Goethals, and although the latter vessel, in the opinion of Captain Halligan, of the battleship Ohio, now in Hampton Roads.

It was the Ohio that hauled the crippled submarine into comparatively shallow water, where she was left for further salvage, and it was upon this ship that the board inquired into the cause of the mishap that almost caused the death of the officers and crew of the S-5.

Now in 24 Fathoms of Water

The S-5 is now in twenty-four fathoms of water, where she was left by the Alantus and the General Goethals, and although the latter vessel, in the opinion of Captain Halligan, of the battleship Ohio, now in Hampton Roads.

It was the Ohio that hauled the crippled submarine into comparatively shallow water, where she was left for further salvage, and it was upon this ship that the board inquired into the cause of the mishap that almost caused the death of the officers and crew of the S-5.

"We got word at 10:10 on Thursday night that the S-5 was in trouble," said Captain Halligan. "We were out on the southern drill grounds and had the tows to look out for. We put our provisions on board that vessel and got rid of her. That delayed us about thirty minutes. Then I put the deck force to work to help out in the fathoms, and although we were 150 miles from the S-5 when we received the call, we reached her at 3 o'clock on Friday morning, or just ten hours after we got under way. We had an oxo-acetylene outfit and electric drills, the chief engineer of the General Goethals was already at work with the ratchet and cold chisels.

"When we arrived and the crew had been cut out the Alantus was trying to tow the submarine, but was unable to judge her. We took the crew aboard the Ohio and made them as comfortable as possible."

Survivors Granted Leave

The survivors of the S-5, who are being cared for at the Philadelphia Navy Yard, have been granted a fifteen days' leave by the Navy Department. Unless the men are wanted at that time for further investigation of the disaster, it is believed they will be able to extend their well-earned vacation to a month.

The men yesterday completed their leave out with new clothes and will be provided with money to take their luggage.

Joseph Onavake, Jacob Akers, Jr., and Herbert Igdanes, members of the crew who were most seriously affected by the gas and bad air in the sunken submarine, are still under treatment at the League Island Hospital and will be granted leave on their recovery.

BIG LIFE POLICIES PAID

Total Distribution Here in 1919 Was $16,303,000

Life insurance payments totaling $16,303,000 were distributed in this city last year by all insurance organizations operating in the United States and Canada, according to statistics quoted by the Insurance Press. Payments made by the bureau of war risk insurance of the government are included in the total.

The largest single payment made in this city was $150,000 on a policy held by George Grant Stouffer. A policy issued in the name of Howard A. Riley drew a payment of $105,000. Other large payments included Benjamin H. Stouffer, $85,924; William B. Van Lennep, $80,000; Oscar D. Loeb, $57,600; and Alexander J. Gray, $51,500.

The total distribution in the United States and Canada last year was $1,842,500,000, of which $1,843,500,000 was paid by the government bureau of war risk insurance, and the remainder by private companies.

JEANETTE RIZZO

CRIES FOR MISSING GIRL

Mother of Jeanette Rizzo Overcome by Grief at Her Absence

A brave Italian mother who has tried to bear up under the grief of the disappearance of one of her daughters August 9 is now seriously ill, and her family is alarmed.

She is Mary Rizzo, 8134 Mingo street, and the disappearance of Jeanette, her sixteen-year-old daughter, has proved too much for her strength. The heartbroken woman can only lie and moan the girl's name. She and the rest of the family are at a loss to explain why the pretty dark girl left her home without a word of explanation. She went to her work in a factory as usual and carried nothing but her carfare and lunch. When she did not return during the night her frenzied mother notified the police. So far they have not been able to find a trace of missing Jeanette until the other night a plain clothes man was certain he saw the girl slip past him in Market street. Before he could follow she had disappeared in the moving throng.

HOME SEEKERS AWAIT FARE PLAN

P. R. T.'s Delay in Announcing Rise Causes Anxiety to Families Forced to Move

WANT TO LIMIT EXPENSE

Delay by the Rapid Transit Co. in definitely announcing what fare increase it will seek is causing anxiety to families who are forced to move from their present dwellings.

Thomas E. Mitten, president of the company, has intimated that the company intends to establish a zone fare system. This hint was given at a picnic of the transit employees last week when the transit company head said the P. R. T. may charge proportionately in the matter of fares.

As there is every indication of the establishment of five and ten-cent zones, hundreds of families who will be compelled to move during the next few weeks are desirous of choosing homes which would be within the radius of the five-cent fare.

The difference of a "nickel" in fare makes a big difference in a year to those who are paying on their homes. In a family in which there are four workers, for instance, an increase of five-cents in fare would make an additional outlay of $115.20 a year.

As the company has changed its plan to obtain a fare increase through the substitution of three-cent exchange tickets for free transfers and abolition of exchange in the central business district, there is no fare increase plan now before the Public Service Commission.

The company has also failed to announce what action it will take in regard to the Frankford elevated line. The city built the line and Mayor Moore informed Mr. Mitten that the company could operate the system if the P. R. T. would pay a 5 per cent return on the city's investment.

Mr. Mitten said he would place the

ASK BETTER FIRE SERVICE

More Modern Equipment is Demanded for Germantown

The board of directors of the Germantown Business Men's Association yesterday appointed a committee to call on Mayor Moore today and demand that the fire engine companies in the Twenty-second ward be more modernly equipped in order to compete with ever-increasing fire hazards.

Clarence Jacoby, vice-president of the association, said that in the Twenty-second ward there is not one motor-driven fire engine.

The committee, headed by William H. Emhardt and John J. Courtney also will call on Postmaster Thornton and complain of the scanty room at the Germantown postoffice.

SUGAR GETTING LOWER

Is Now Fifteen Cents and May Drop to Fourteen a Pound Soon

Sugar is still getting cheaper and may drop to fourteen or even thirteen cents in the next few days, refiners say. The commodity is now quoted at fifteen cents a pound by the Pennsylvania Sugar Refinery, McCann Sugar Co. and the Federal Sugar Refining Co.

Seventeen thousand five hundred pounds of Franklin sugar have been received by the Tamsui Tea Co. for distribution by their twenty-three stores located in Pennsylvania. It will retail at twenty cents a pound. Two stores of the company are located in Philadelphia.

ANNOUNCEMENTS FOR THURSDAY—BUSINESS HOURS FROM 9 TO 5 O'CLOCK

Women are Most Enthusiastic Over The Suits and Dresses for Autumn

They are lovely to look at, and charming to wear, and what is equally important, THEY ARE VERY MODERATELY PRICED. In fact, there is genuine surprise manifest when women see these particular groups:

Wool Street Dresses, $25.00 to $42.50
Tunic and tricotine, in straight-line, tunic and redingote effects, some fashioned on coat lines so closely they can hardly be distinguished from coats. Some trimmed with braid, some beaded and embroidered. Black, navy blue, and some in brown. The Dress sketched, $42.50.

New Satin Dresses, $30.00 to $45.00
Tunic and straight-line models, including some in extra sizes, and showing the most pronounced fashion features in sleeves and collars, low girdle, vests, and the various new bead and colored embroideries. Black, navy blue, taupe and dark brown.

New Silk Dresses, $18.75 to $150.00
New Cloth Dresses, $21.75 to $150.00

New Tailored Suits, $37.50 to $57.50
Developed in silvertone, silvertip, barilla, wool velour and duvet de laine, tailored on the long, slim lines of the season, and simply trimmed with tailored stitching and buttons. In oxford, brown, navy blue, reindeer and black.

Finer Autumn Suits, $62.50 to $80.00
Plain and fur-trimmed models, elaborately stitched and colored embroidered effects, and some severely tailored. Shown in silvertone, Scotch tweed, yalama, duvet de laine and wool velour, and some unusually attractive mixtures in English tweeds. The suit sketched, $72.50.

Smart Worsted Jersey Suits, $27.50 to $45.00

RUGS

Our advice to all who expect to buy high-class floor coverings this autumn, is to buy them in September. Our entire stock of Oriental Rugs—including Persian and Chinese—is marked at reduced prices in our Annual Sale—although many of them are actually worth more than our regular prices. Especially worthy of note, also, is the fact that our beautiful CHENILLE CARPETS, for cutting into seamless Rugs 9, 12 or 15 feet wide, are marked at reduced prices.

Two Hundred "Alco" and Other Unfinished Worsted Autumn Suits $40

A Revelation to Men and Young Men Who Thought They'd Have to Pay More!

—And, of course, you would have to pay more, if this price were based upon the actual present wholesale value of these Suits. But this is one of the famous SPECIALS which we make a point of creating occasionally, and which have added much to the fame of this Clothing Store of Constant Activity. This special collection of two hundred Suits comes to our customers through the co-operation of the manufacturers—working together in advance, both maker and seller taking a minimum margin of profit, to the very great advantage of every man who buys one. They are of FINE WORSTED, in the natural finish—well known as unfinished worsted—one of the most durable fabrics made—in handsome dark shades. Excellent models (one of which, the "Strand," is shown in the sketch); another is a three-button style. Regular flap pockets or patch pockets. Sizes for tall, slender and stout men, as well as men of average proportions. Very exceptional value at $40.00.
